Dear Dr. Green:

As Senior Vice President for Health Sciences and Dean of the Medical School, I have the opportunity of communicating to you some of the recent developments at the School. I am pleased to announce that the searches for two new department chairs have been completed and new leadership is in place in Neurosurgery and Oncological Sciences. William T. Couldwell, M.D., Ph.D., former professor and chair at New York Medical College has been named chair of the Department of Neurosurgery, effective November 1, pending approval of the Board of Trustees. He replaces M. Peter Heilbrun, M.D., who is on leave at Stanford University Medical Center, Department of Neurosurgery. Ronald I. Apfelbaum, M.D. professor of Neurosurgery served as interim chair since Heilbrun's departure. Barbara J. Graves, Ph.D., professor in the Department of Oncological Sciences was named chair, effective September 1. John Speed, M.B.B.S., associate professor of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, has been named as interim chief of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation effective January 1, replacing James R. Swenson, M.D., who retired. J. Richard Baringer, M.D., chair of Neurology will return to his faculty rank effective December 31. The search for a Neurology chair is underway. Mark F. Leppert, Ph.D., professor of Human Genetics has been named interim chair of the Department of Human Genetics, replacing Raymond F. Gesteland, Ph.D., Distinguished Professor and former chair who was named to Vice President for Research at the University of Utah. John R. Hoidal, M.D., professor of Internal Medicine was named interim chair of the Department of Internal Medicine, effective September 1. Merle A. Sande, M.D., former chair of Internal Medicine will return to the faculty ranks. Finally, Edwin A. Stevens, M.D., professor of Radiology has been named chair of the Department of Radiology, replacing William W. Orrison, M.D.

Several changes have been made in the Vice President's Office and Dean's Office staff as well. Ronald M. Harris, M.D., was named Assistant Vice President for Health Sciences Diversity. Kim Wirthlin, has been named Assistant Vice President for Legislative and Public Affairs. In the Dean's Office, Larry Reimer, M.D., Assistant Dean for Curriculum also took on the assistant dean responsibility for Graduate Medical Education.

Of the 102 students admitted to the class of 2005, 74 students were from Utah, 8 from Idaho, and 20 were nonresidents. Thirty-five percent of the class is female; eight students are from minority groups, including five identified as under represented in the health professions. The average GPA of accepted applicants was 3.62 and the average MCAT was 10 in each category or 30 overall.

Over the past six years the Office of Diversity and Community Outreach has developed a working relationship with the Salt Lake School District. Medical students and office staff travel to elementary, junior high, and high schools, and provide them with academic advising and medical student mentoring programs, which expose students to the health sciences. The office has created programs with Utah American Indian students, junior high age young women, and a monthly high school program with students who live between Orem and Ogden. The office will also be sponsoring a rural outreach program, which is new this year. Thirty to forty students from rural

Dear R:

RE: New University of Utah Edition Planning Pages from FranklinCovey

If you are like most members of the University of Utah Alumni Association, you've discovered how hectic life can be after leaving school. You may be busy building your career or pursuing a lifelong dream. Your family may be growing and your time is stretched in more directions than you like to think about. Sound familiar?

Maybe we can help. We're excited to announce a new partnership with FranklinCovey, the world leader in time management training and tools. For the first time ever, you can purchase University of Utah Edition planning pages. This unique new product is a perfect way to show your Ute spirit and manage the things that are most important in your life.

These daily planning pages offer a convenient way to keep all of your information in one place—appointments, tasks, commitments, important notes, and more. Plus, each page features full-color photography of the University of Utah campus and university events with inspirational quotes and interesting facts—all designed with U of U school colors.

Please see the enclosed brochure for ordering information or for more details. We hope these planning pages will help you accomplish all your goals and dreams. Good luck.

Sincerely,

M. John Ashton
